Was an Immense Funeral.

A large number of people were out on Sunday to attend the funeral of the four young people that were drowned in the river the previous Tuesday night, mention of which was made in last week's paper. The parties were Ralph and Bessie Anderson, May Park and Ruth Hogger. The services were held at the Methodist church at two o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. Richard Evans conducting the services. A large number of people had to be turned away from the church, as the capacity of the edifice was taxed to its utmost at an early hour, leaving many of the friends of the deceased on the outside.

A large number of teams followed the remains to their last resting place, where a large crowd had also gathered to see the last sad rites. There was probably never a sadder day in the history of Grand Rapids.

Memorial Day Observed.

Memorial Day in this city was properly observed as is customary on such occasions. The band turned out in the morning and marched to the cemetery where the members of the Grand Army held appropriate services at the grave of Vim Wales, after which the graves were decorated. A large crowd was in attendance at the ceremonies.

In the afternoon exercises were held in the opera house where there was music and speaking. The juvenile band was also in attendance and rendered two selections. The hall was crowded, every seat being filled. Besides the people around town who attended the services there were a large number of country people in.

Has a Patriotic Relic.

W. A. Keyes has a relic of the early days of the republic which he values very highly. It is a colonial handkerchief which has on it a picture of President Washington and his cabinet. Of course there have been many thousands of these handkerchiefs made during late years, but the one that Mr. Keyes has is one of the old originals that was made in the early day, and has been handed down from generation to generation until it has fallen into the hands of Mr. Keyes. The handkerchief was placed into a quilt many years ago, and in this form received considerable wear, but the picture on it is still plain enough so that it can be recognized readily.

Pittsville Case Up Again.

The case of Jim Hald against the city of Pittsville was opened up again this morning at the court house.

This is a case in which the plaintiff sues for $5000 damages against the city of Pittsville on account of injuries alleged to have been received by slipping on an icy walk.

A motion to direct a verdict was argued on Saturday, but this the judge refused to do, so the case was opened up again this morning by the introduction of new evidence. During the course of the trial a large number of Pittsville people have been in the city in the capacity of witnesses.

Gave Their First Exercises.

The Moose Troup, a club play, was given at the high school on Monday evening. Owing to the rain that evening the crowd in attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been. The young people acquitted themselves very creditably and those in attendance were well pleased with the entertainment. There were also a number of drills and exercises and music for the occasion was furnished by the high school orchestra.

The next of their entertainments will be given this evening, which will be another play, the graduation exercises being given on Friday evening.

Beaten by Stevens Point.

The local baseball team went to Stevens Point on Sunday and played a game with the boys from that city which resulted in a victory for the Point by a score of 8 to 0. The locals put up a good game and had their opponents beat until the last inning, when the Stevens Point boys made two runs and won the game.

George Palmer pitched for the locals and threw a good game from start to finish, while Russell Hansen did the work behind the bat.

Held to the Circuit Court.

Joe Poyras was taken before Justice Pritzinger on Saturday and bound over to await trial at the circuit court. Joe, who is on the black list, has been in the habit of getting drunk and the officers think that he should get a more severe punishment than has been heretofore meted out to him.

Contract for Church Let.

The contract for the new Lutheran church has been let to A. F. Billmyre, his bid for $41,585.00 having been the lowest of those submitted. Work on the structure will commence at once.

For Sale.

Kitchen range, Kitchen table, refrigerator, book case, iron bed, wire bed out, dining room table and six chairs, laundry stove, office desk and chair, etc. Mrs. Louisa Biron, 1023 High St.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jenkins of Patch Grove arrived in the city on Saturday and are visiting with friends for a few days. From here they go to Amberg to visit with Mrs. Jenkins relatives, after which they expect to leave for the west. They will visit the Alaska Yukon exposition and after this Mr. Jenkins figures on going to Montana where he will probably locate if he is pleased with the appearance of the country.

Holdup at Merrill.

The quiet little city of Merrill was the scene of a bank holdup on Friday afternoon last, when four masked men entered the Germania-American bank, and covering the cashier with revolvers took what cash was in sight, and ran down the street. It seems, however, that the holdup robbers had made a miscalculation somewhere as citizens pursued close on their heels and succeeded in capturing two of them, one of whom was badly wounded, a bullet having passed thru his abdomen. The money was all recovered, as well as five dollars which the robbers had.

Bank robberies that have been pulled off in this section have not proven very successful for the robbers, probably because they have no friends in the neighborhood to help them out.

Have Begun to Rebuild.

The Electric & Water Company now have a gang of men at work re-setting poles about the city wherever it is necessary, and when this work is finished they will commence putting up their new lines. The work will all be done with practically no interruption of the service about the city, but when completed it is expected that the lines and distributing part of the system will be as complete and economical as it is possible to get it.

The company recently issued bonds to the extent of $30,000, and of this amount, $20,000 has been sold, so that there is an abundance of money at sight for the proposed work.

Want a Different Grade.

A petition was this week circulated among the residents in the vicinity of Vine and Third streets which asks the city council to direct that a different grade be established where the two streets intersect. The idea is to have the hill graded down somewhat so that there will not be such a steep rise in going from Second to Third streets. The grade is not only considerable between the two streets, but the last few feet is almost at an angle of 15 degrees, which makes the hill one to be avoided by anybody with a load.

Won a Few Points.

George Hill, Don Johnson, Walter Wood and Myron Nutwick went to Madison on Friday and on the day following attended the high school state track meet.

In the 120 yard hurdles Myron Nutwick came in first in the second and the final heats, and Nutwick was third in the district throw.

In the high jump Walter Wood was tied with Everard of Ripon for second place, and in the 320 yard hurdles Myron Nutwick was second in the first heat and third in the final.

In the pole vault Wood of this city tied with Johnson of Milwaukee for third place.

Sold Liquor to Minors.

Two of our saloon keepers were arrested on Tuesday on a charge of selling liquor to minors, and both of them pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs. The justice made the fine light on account of the circumstances surrounding the case. It was brought out in the testimony that the young fellow who got the beer had been in the habit of getting beer for his parents, but on this occasion he got it for some other boys which caused the trouble.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaBrot on Saturday.

A daughter to Prof. Chas. Schwede and wife last week.

May Finish Work Soon.

Senator T. W. Brazau came up from Madison the latter part of last week to attend to some business matters, as he has a case before the circuit court which may come up soon. Mr. Brazau reports that the legislature may finish up its work inside of another two weeks, as the end is now in sight.

Band Concert Postponed.

The band concert will be given on Thursday evening next, owing to the fact that the concert was out short last night by the coming up of the storm. It will be held on the west side and will commence at 7:45 sharp.

Card of Thanks.

The families lately bereaved by the accident on the river wish to express the sense of profound gratitude they feel to all the friends who showed them so much kindness in their affliction; to the Mayor and members of the fire department and all the others who devoted themselves unsparingly to the search for the lost ones; to those who anticipated their wants and ministered to their convenience during the days preceding the funeral; to the donors of flowers and the ladies who arranged them and decorated the graves; to the choir whose music inspired and cheered; to the pall-bearers whose service was indispensable; and to all others, too numerous to mention, who, by various thoughtful attentions did what they could to lighten the burden and mitigate the sorrow.

They also share with the survivors unspeakable appreciation of the heroism of the men who, at the imminent peril of their lives, rescued the survivors as well as those who so nobly made the attempt.

In behalf of the bereaved families, Richard Evans, Pastor of the Methodist Church.

Prizes for Essays.

The local Women's Christian Temperance Union recently offered a prize of five dollars for the best essay submitted by eighth grade and high school pupils. The essays were written on two subjects: "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life," or "The Harm of a Glass of Beer." The eighth grade pupils wrote on the latter subject, the high school pupils on the former.

The English teachers in the high school and in the eighth grade selected the ten best essays. Three judges, Mr. Wm. Redding, Rev. Fred Stull and Rev. R. Evans awarded the prizes to the best of these ten.

The prize of five dollars was awarded to George Hill of the Junior class, and to Katherine Vaughan of the eighth grade. Grace Langdon, a junior, and Margaret Nolter, a Freshman, and Walter Barnich and Leon Foley of the eighth grade received honorable mention.

Stock Fair Tuesday.

The regular monthly stock fair opens next Tuesday on the west side market square. It is expected that there will be a large crowd in attendance as there is a large demand at this time for whatever the farmer has to dispose of.

A curfew of calves are wanted, and it is expected that a buyer will be here from outside to pick up whatever comes along in this line.

A number of heavy horses are wanted and a few road horses.

There is also a demand for a few No. 1 milk cows. The farmers have been bringing in some pretty poor stock in this line and it has not found as ready sale as a better grade of stock would do.

There is also a demand for small pigs, and the packing plant will take anything that is in good condition that may be brought in.

The Grand Rapids Brewing company will give an eighth of beer for the farmer bringing in the largest number of empty kegs.

Twelve more markers for soldiers graves were received last week for veterans who are buried in the local cemeteries. Those received were for the graves of Chas. J. Gorman, Willis Phelps, Patrick Smith, William Petrie, George Gibson, J. H. Otto, W. H. Brown, Lewis Narrows, W. B. Naylor, Vito Wales, D. E. Whitmore and W. J. Balderston.

Granted the Franchise.

The Nokonek village board has granted the franchise to the Grand Rapids Electric Railway company, and all the company has to worry them now is the building of the road. Some little trouble has been experienced in securing the right of way, but in most places this matter has been disposed of without any trouble at all.

Was a Good Play.

The play "A Doll's House" produced at the opera house on Tuesday evening was produced in an excellent manner, but it was not a play that the average person would walk a great many miles to see a second time. It is too bad that the amount of talent displayed by Miss Nelson cannot be directed into more entertaining channels.

Eastern Star Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the O. E. S. will occur on Wednesday evening, June 9th. There will be initiation, and a full attendance is desired. At this meeting there will be a collection taken for the Eastern Star Home. Will you kindly come prepared. Visiting members are always cordially welcome.

Regular Council Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the common council was held on Tuesday evening. Mayor Pantonville presiding. Among the other business matters attended to the city attorney was instructed to investigate the matter of bonding the city, that is to say, just how much the city can still stand according to law. The object is to raise money for the purpose of taking up the city bond making water works extension and street improvement.

A petition was presented to the council asking that an ordinance be drawn which would prohibit the running at large of dogs. The matter was voted upon and the petition laid upon the table.

A petition was presented from the Federated Clubs asking that the Oak street sewer be extended to the river and that the lot belonging to the city at the foot of Oak street be cleaned up. The matter was referred to the finance committee who were instructed to clean up the lot, and when some sewer pipe of the proper size is received the sewer will be extended.

It was voted to buy two pieces of land on the west side which will be used for the extension of High street for a distance of one block.

The city attorney reported on the claim of Paul Panton, who asks the city to pay him the sum of $1.9 for injuries alleged to have been received on a defective sidewalk. The city attorney said that he had no claim against the city for the reason that he had not noticed the city within the time required by law.

An ordinance was also passed condemning a large number of sidewalks about the city. The city clerk was also instructed to purchase $3.00 of new hose for the use of the fire department.

What They Think of Our Senator.

Madison State Journal: Senator Brazau of Grand Rapids gives the impression of being able to make the clearest statement of a proposition of law of anyone in the house. He is a little man; that is, he is a man and he is little, but not "small." Brazau isn't owned by the corporations as he has proved, but the arguments he put up for the water power companies they couldn't have commanded in many places for any amount of money. The big university appropriation bill was introduced and pushed by Brazau.

May Build a Hall Here.

A number of outside capitalists have been looking over this city of late with a view to building an amusement hall here something like the one that was erected at Merrill last winter. Their idea was to put up a building about 50x120 and use it for a skating rink, dance hall and all kinds of meetings when a place of unusual size is needed. They have been prying real estate and have several locations under consideration, but have not made up their minds definitely whether they will invest here or not.

Caught Some Nice Trout.

M. Weeks, Charles Kellogg, Emilie Rogger and Emilie Garrison were in the neighborhood of Friendship on Sunday fishing for trout, and while there they landed some beauties. Nine of the fish weighed fifteen pounds, which is certainly good weight for trout.

Arguing for a New Trial.

The attorneys in the P. P. Schultz case argued for a new trial before Judge Wahl on Tuesday but at this time the judge has not handed in his decision in the matter.

A Merry Chase.

—A Merry Chase, June 3.

New Automobiles.

Several of our citizens have received new automobiles during the past week, three Maxwell runabouts and a Mitchell touring car having been added to the list of machines in the city.

Dr. Rougemont received a Maxwell runabout last Thursday. It is one of the two cylinder, front horse power machine and the dealer will use it in his business.

T. G. Giffels received one of the small Maxwell runabouts, two cylinder, front horse power machine, who is to use it in his business and also as a pleasure vehicle.

Wm. Tolmachev, the rural carrier, also received a Maxwell machine, one of the four horse power runabouts which will be used for delivering the mail on his rural route. He has been using the machine for this purpose since he received it and it is proving a great success. He is now able to leave the city about eight o'clock in the morning and make his route of twenty-five miles and get back to the city about half past ten, making the entire round in about two hours and a half. There is no question but the machine will prove a success during the season when the roads are good.

T. W. Ellis received a Mitchell touring car on Thursday, one of the four cylinder, four horse power machines. The car is a handsome affair and has been giving excellent satisfaction. Mr. Ellis left on Saturday in the car for Merrill, intending to bring Mrs. Ellis and the family back with him.

Good Work Was Done.

It is seldom that as good work as done in the recovery of bodies from the river was accomplished in this city last Wednesday afternoon, when the remains of Ralph and Bessie Anderson and May Park were taken from the river in one afternoon.

All the gates in the dam were opened so as to lower the water in the pond as much as possible, after which they were closed, which lowered the water below the dam very materially. This was done in the afternoon, and a short time after ward the body of Ralph Anderson was found lodged in the racks at the rapids. As no other bodies were discovered in that vicinity, those who were assisting in the search concentrated their efforts in the slack water in the neighborhood of the bridge, and the body of Miss Park was found near the east end of the bridge. Work was continued with unabated energy and about five o'clock in the afternoon the body of Miss Anderson was found a short distance above the bridge.

Ready available boat was pressed into service during the day and there was no dearth of volunteers to man them. Anxious crowds lined the river banks and looked all day and there was a decided feeling of relief when the last body was taken from the river.

Business Property Sold.

On Saturday a deal was closed between P. L. Stoth the druggist and the representative of the Hokkinson estate, by which Mr. Stoth became the owner of the store building where the Hokkinson laundry is now located. It is Mr. Stoth's intention to remodel the building as soon as it is vacated and fix it up for a drug store. This will take considerable work, but he expects to get it ready for occupancy by about the middle of August. The place is well located and should prove a good site for a drug business.

For Sale.

Prizes for Essays.

The local Women's Christian Temperance Union recently offered a prize of five dollars for the best essay submitted by eighth grade and high school pupils. The essays were written on two subjects, "The Value of Total Abstinence to a Life," or "The Harm of a Glass of Beer."

The eighth grade pupils wrote on the latter subject, the high school pupils on the former.

The English teachers in the high school and in the eighth grade selected the ten best essays. Third judge Fr. Wm. Reding, Rev. Fred Staff and Rev. E. Evans awarded the prizes to the best of these ten.

Stock Fair Tuesday.

The regular monthly stock fair occurs next Tuesday on the west side market square. It is expected that there will be a large crowd in attendance as there is a good demand at this time for whatever the farmer has to dispose of.

A carload of calves are wanted, and it is expected that a buyer will be here from outside to pick up whatever comes along in this line.

A number of heavy horses are wanted and a few road horses. There is also a demand for a few No. 1 milk cows. The farmers have been bringing in some pretty poor stock in this line and it has not found as ready sale as a better grade of stock would do.

There is also a demand for small pigs, and the packing plant will take anything that is in good condition that may be brought in.

Markers for Soldiers' Graves.

Twelve more markers for soldiers' graves were received last week for veterans who are buried in the local cemeteries. Those received were for the graves of Chas. J. Carman, Willis Phelps, Patrick Smith, William Petrie, George Gibson, J. H. Otto, W. H. Brown, Lewis Narrows, W. B. Naylor, Vine Wales, D. E. Whitmore and W. J. Balderston.

Granted the Franchise.

The Nekosia village board has granted the franchise to the Grand Rapids Electric Railway company, and all the company has to worry them now is the building of the road. Some little trouble has been experienced in securing the right of way, but in most places this matter has been disposed of without any trouble at all.

Was a Good Play.

The play "A Doll's House" produced at the opera house on Tuesday evening was produced in an excellent manner, but it was not a play that the average person would walk a great many miles to see a second time. It is too bad that the amount of talent displayed by Miss Nielson cannot be directed into more entertaining channels.

Eastern Star Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the O. E. S. will occur on Wednesday evening, June 9th. There will be initiation and a full attendance is desired. At this meeting there will be a collection taken for the Eastern Star Home. Will you kindly come prepared. Visiting members are always cordially welcome.

Runaway Sale.

St. Katherine's Guild will hold a runaway sale Saturday, June 12, from 10 to 5 o'clock, in store north of opera house building.

Regular Council Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the common council was held on Tuesday evening. Mayor Pomainville presiding.

Among the other business matters attended to the city attorney was instructed to investigate the matter of bonding the city; that is to see just how much the city can still stand according to law. The object is to raise money for the purpose of taking up the overdraft, making waterworks extension and street improvements.

A petition was presented to the council asking that an ordinance be drawn which would prohibit the running at large of dogs. The matter was voted upon and the petition laid upon the table.

A petition was presented from the Federated Clubs asking that the Oak street sewer be extended to the river, and that the lot of Oak street be closed up. The matter was referred to the finance committee who were instructed to clean up the lot, and when some sewer pipe of the proper size is received the sewer will be extended.

It was voted to buy two pieces of land on the west side which will be used for the extension of High street for a distance of one block.

The city attorney reported on the claim of Paul Panslow, who asks the city to pay him the sum of $129 for injuries alleged to have been received on a defective sidewalk. The city attorney said that he had no claim against the city for the reason that he had not notified the city within the time required by law.

An ordinance was also passed condemning a large number of sidewalks about the city. The city clerk was also instructed to purchase 500 feet of new hose for the use of the fire department.

What They Think of Our Senator.

Madison State Journal.—Senator Brazeau of Grand Rapids gives the impression of being able to make the clearest statement of a proposition of law of anyone in the house. He is a little man, that is, he is a man and he is little, but not "small." Brazeau isn't owned by the corporations as he has proved, but the arguments he put up for the water power companies they couldn't have commanded in many places for any amount of money. The big university appropriation bill was introduced and pushed by Brazeau.

May Build a Hall Here.

A number of outside capitalists have been looking over this city of late with a view to building an amusement hall here something like the one that was erected at Merrill last winter. Their idea was to put up a building about 75x120 and use it for a skating rink, dance hall and all kinds of meetings when a place of unusual size is needed. They have been pricing real estate and have several locations under consideration, but have not made up their minds definitely whether they will invest here or not.

Caught Some Nice Trout.

M. Weeks, Charles Kellogg, Emilio Rosier and Emilio Garrison were in the neighborhood of Friendship on Sunday fishing for trout, and while there they landed some beauties. Nine of the fish weighed fifteen pounds, which is certainly good weight for trout.

Arguing for a New Trial.

The attorneys in the E. E. Schultz case argued for a new trial before Judge Webb on Tuesday but at this time the judge has not handed in his decision in the matter.

A "New Thought" Offense

By Dr. George F. Butler and Herbert Hsley

Victory for Physician-Detective Dr. Furnivall, Where Police Methods Fail

W HEN Detective Rugerson, at seven o'clock in the evening, learned that Mr. Courtney Banning, the young club millionaire, was missing from his home, and that play was over, and that a large reward had been offered for information of his whereabouts, he felt that he knew about what had happened to him and just where he was to find him.

"The case is a simple one," he said to himself. "The man is in the hotel Northern on the fringe of the hums."

"Ring," said he to the night clerk, a tough-looking individual of 19 with a bad, faded face, drink-odd gray eyes, black, choppy hair, and a tall, lanky form. "Does long hair was it that Mr. Banning was seen?"

"A week ago to night," Rugerson answered, quickly. "Why? I hope there isn't nothing."

"First thing, that's all. We want to find him for his family. If he's still here and if you make it quiet and easy for me, why, no questions asked—thats it. All I want is him—see? And nobody else needn't know nothing about it."

"Here, come in here a minute," said the clerk, hastily. He hurried through the dining room into the kitchen, and standing in the middle of the floor pointed upward to where a door could be seen, with three steps of a former stairway depending from it. The stairway was sawed short off, the lowest step hanging ten feet up from the kitchen floor.

"You see them stairs?" said the clerk, pointing. "We cut them down because we needed the room here more than we did them. So help me, I ain't telling a word of it, but Mr. Banning was down here on stairs Monday night, and for some reason or other he opened that door that we always keep locked, and tumbled down here. He thought there was stairs, I suppose. He wasn't hurt much, but he couldn't stand, and we would not send him to his own home, letting on that it was here he was putting in his time, so we calla the wagon and sends him to the relief station. Why, isn't he out yet at all? We thought he'd be all right in the morning, only a little shock up, and maybe the head on him from the fall."

While he was speaking, the innocent eyes of the detective were searching his face. The clerk wore a guilty manner, but was it the flag of guilt in this particular case, or was it the general, all-around guilt which a man of his calling and stamp is likely to show when in the presence of the law? The detective could not say. But the relief station would answer the question, or at least throw enough light on the subject to start with, but Mr. Banning would be found injured, but the injury came innocently, from walking through that doorway? The main point was that the missing man would be restored to his home, and the restorer would get the reward. The manner of the injury was a minor matter, which, however, properly looked into, might serve as a whip of power to hold over the shady Hotel Northern.

Therefore, after a long look into the clerk's shifty eyes, he said abruptly: "I'll see you again about this, maybe," and hurried to the hospital. To his inquiries an attendant answered that on Monday evening a man had been brought in unconscious, suffering from a fractured skull and bruises on the head and arms. Two friends who were with him said his name was C. O. Banning. In the morning, when they had patched him up and he was able to leave the station, he denied that he was Banning, though he refused to give any other name, and went away growling against somebody who had thrown him down stairs.

"Was he a gentleman?" asked Dr. Rugerson.

"If he was he was thoroughly disguised," smiled the attendant. "No, he was a rough fellow, faded and dirty, weak-minded, sniveling, a type we often see here."

The detective hastened back to the hotel. The clerk Ring regarded him anxiously.

"You've hurt him after all?" he asked. "I would give a house a bad name."

"Ring," said Rugerson, looking him in the eye, "it wasn't Banning. How could you make such a bull?"

"Wasn't Banning!" he exclaimed. Then he laughed cynically. "Oh, no—of course not! Didn't I lift him from the floor myself? Don't I know him better than I do you? Is he there yet? Or how is it? What are you handing me?"

"Ring," said the detective, slowly and impressively, "there's something phony in this. Out with it or it will be the worse for you."

"Jakey," Mike called the clerk, poking his head into the larger room, "come here, I want you."

"Two seedy individuals shuffled into sight. They were the types of young fellows who always may be seen around cheap barrooms, droll, and of eye, trembling with the weakness of overstimulation. When they saw the detective they showed further signs of discomfort, but braced it out, though doubtfully, as if ready for flight on the first token of hostility on his part.

"Mike," said the clerk, "and you, too, Jakey, where was it you seen Mr. Banning Monday night—the first time, I mean?"

"On the brood of his back on the floor," answered Mike, pointing; and "Stretched right out there," corroborated Jakey, also pointing, both of them speaking at the same time.

"Was it you two that gave his name at the relief station?" asked Rugerson.

"It was not," said Mike. "No, sir," declared Jakey.

"They helped put him in the wagon, that's all," Mike volunteered.

"But who went with him to the hospital, then? They say there that two men came with him and gave his name."

Both Mike and Jakey began to talk very fast, explaining that all they knew was that Mr. Banning had fallen on the stairs, that they had lifted him into the ambulance and then returned to the dining room, where they were sitting when the noise of his fall started them into rushing to the kitchen to see what the trouble was. They knew Mr. Banning very well by sight, an everybody around the hotel did, he was there so often, attracting a good deal of attention unknown to himself by being there at all, and especially by spending so much money.

"You two come along with me," Rugerson interrupted, gratingly. "You have the spell too put. We'll see if the ambulance man and the clerk at the relief station can identify you."

"It's all right, Mr. Rugerson," Mike said. "I'll go with you," called Ring after the detective as the three went out.

"Hold on," muttered Rugerson, "but there's mud in this sugar somewhere. It gets it."

The instant they reached the first cross street both men, as if moved by one impulse, snatched the officer by the arm and turned the corner, out of sight of the hotel.

"Get out here—I'll tell him—I have the first word," growled Mike to Jakey, who was feverishly trying to whisper in the detective's ear.

Rugerson shook them off and stepped into a doorway.

"The story," he said, "You'll both be treated the same in this game, no matter who speaks first. Out with it, Mike."

Jakey subsided and Mike hastily told the word.

"There was a gazabo lifted a couple of planks off a fellow up stairs there that night," he whispered, "and hit it for the main entrance. But the fella stood up to him, so he breaks away for the back door he seen there. It was barred, but he got it open and slides through, but the stairs is cut out and the planks on him against the kitchen floor. We all hear the hubbalo and five or six of us walks in to see the game. Mr. Banning was one. We sends for the Black Maria, and Mr. Banning says: 'I'll give every man here, he says, 'a ten-spot,' he says, 'to say that dead man on the floor,' he says, 'is me,' he says. And then he says, 'who wanta it?' and he dashed a roll the size of a stove funnel. So we all took it. And he hands me and Jakey here ten more to go to the station for to give his name. And we goes and gives it. We all thought the man was dead, but 'twas nothing but phony, was it, Mr. Rugerson?"

"And," put in Jakey, quickly, "you can't get the 20 apiece back from us, because why?—we blowed it, didn't we Mike?"

"Slop!" swore Mike, throwing out his palms.

"Oh, dead sure!" grinned Rugerson. "You two high rollers blow 20 frequent. But that's all right. All I want is Banning. Put me near and in a claim on everything else. Where is he?" As they consulted each other with troubled eyes he added impatiently, "Look, now, or I'll take you in."

"I'll tell you," swore Mike, throwing out his palms.

"Oh, dead sure!" grinned Rugerson. "You two high rollers blow 20 frequent. But that's all right. All I want is Banning. Put me near and in a claim on everything else. Where is he?" As they consulted each other with troubled eyes he added impatiently, "Look, now, or I'll take you in."

Woman Had Put Up with a Lot But Last Trick of Monkey, Too Much.

George F. Freeman no longer wants a monkey. He did until a short time ago. The monkey was a pet for Freeman, and a pest of his mother. Although she loathed the creature she tolerated its presence on account of the attachment between her son and his pet.

One day Mrs. Freeman was playing flowers in a small patch of ground around her house. The monkey, who had watched with interest the preparation of the patch for the seeds. When the planting was done its curiosity grew as the work progressed.

Following Mrs. Freeman as she thrust the small seeds into the ground and covered them over the monkey dug up each seed but it found each one alive in its hole and not an altogether pleasant taste at that. It spit it out and moved on in the wake of the planter. Mrs. Freeman's back was turned to the monkey and she finished the last row. The monkey turned and saw the country of the animal's campaign in the place where she expected flowers to bloom.

"George," she said, when he came home, "that monkey and I can't live in the same family."

The monkey has a new home now—Indianapolis News.

Not a Petrifed Leg.

In one of the leading cities of the middle west a high church dignitary is threatened with the monomania that one of his legs is gradually becoming petrified. To test its condition he places it at frequent intervals. At a dinner party of men and women he made the usual test after the soup and became greatly excited to find that he felt no sensation from a most vigorous exercise of the leg. "It has come," he cried in alarm; "at last my leg is completely petrified!" The nation sitting next to him whispered loudly: "Excuse me, it is not petrified and it is not yours!"—New York Press.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Keep the little chicks growing.

Cleanliness is absolutely essential for successful poultry raising.

Now is the time to begin the fight on lice and mites in the henhouse.

Make up your mind you will take better care of the tools and machinery this year than last.

It is easy to use one of the various types of road drags, all modeled on the King idea.

Oats require a well-prepared seed bed. It is time well spent in pulverizing the soil. Use the narrow freely.

Animal for animal, notes bring a higher price than horses. Why not raise a few?

Have you kept the road drag busy alongside of your place? Not much work, but it improves the road a heap.

Test your good corn. You will then know whether you are planting corn that will grow or not.

Begin the grain ration with the little chicks early. Many do not believe in feeding soft mash to little chicks at all.

If your seed corn is not what it ought to be, don't plant it. It will pay you to buy of some one who has good seed corn to sell.

Seed corn in the ear brings a high price than that which is shelled, but it is worth more. Pay the difference and get the best.

Make it the rule to constantly improve the stock on your farm. If you start with scrub stock don't be content to continue with that grade, but use pure bred stock and feed up. In a few years you will be in possession of a fine grade of animals.

In the opinion of some who have tried it, the best crop to precede the sowing of alfalfa is corn. After the vines are removed or plowed under, the ground should be well broken and kept clean of weeds and grass by surface cultivation until it is seeded in alfalfa the following fall.

If you made proper selections of seed corn last fall and have kept it well you are among those to be congratulated and undoubtedly are the envy of improvident farmers who by hit and miss methods are now forced to use most anything that is left for planting.

It is a foolhardy policy to sell the good cows when wishing to reduce the size of the herd. Just because you can get a little better price for the good ones than the poor ones. Sell the poorest every time, even though they do not bring nearly so much. Such a policy will help build up, not tear down, your herd.

If your neighbor seems to get along better than you do; if his farm, which is right alongside yours and ought to be no better soil than yours, raises better crops than yours does; if he seems to get along easier than you do, watch him, study his methods. There is a reason for it, and you can learn from him if you will.

A tired horse just in from the hard work of the field is in no condition to fill up on grain. Water, and rub down, and let stand for a while before feeding. In this way the digestive organs will be ready to begin their work with vigor, and the rest and the feed during the night will put him in vigorous condition for the work of the next day.

One of the coldest, rawest days this spring when I went out to look over my acres and was grumbling at the unpromising conditions the notes of a bird from the southern rousal, and I said: "If it were not for the wind and the snow is in the north and not worried over in the weather, so can I, for I who earth for the birds earth for me." And that ended my grouse for that day, at least.

With a separator on the farm, you can feed the sweet warm milk to the pigs and calves when it has its highest feed value. It saves handling it two or three times, as under the old method: saves the innumerable cans and pans in which you used to set your milk to raise the cream, and it gives you the cream to either take at once to the creamery or save for making into butter on the farm. The separator is a time-saver and a money-saver.

Try and be a better dairy farmer than your neighbor. Give thought to your business. If you have been keeping cows just because you happened to have them on your hands, change your tactics. Remember that the herd is an exceptionally poor one if there are not a few cows in it that will make pretty good returns if you give them a chance. These are the cows to which you should direct your attention. You should serve them with a good dairy sire and keep the better calves from the best cows. You will be delighted with the first cross. By this time also you will have learned what your common cows can do for you and will have become an enthusiastic dairyman.

The selection of a collar for your horse is a matter of importance. In the first place see that you get a good one and one that is made with a view of the scientific principles of fitting the neck, shoulders and throat so as to contribute ease and comfort, and above all select one that is smoothly and evenly stuffed and devoid of wrinkles and bumps and one that your dealer will stand back of. As you would fit a shoe to your foot for comfort, so fit a collar to your horse's neck, for the same purpose.

The little chicks need grit. See that they get it.

Improve the roads and bring the town closer.

Cultivation of the corn stimulates growth and increases the yield.

While the corn is small keep the cultivator going.

Always be on the lookout for the new idea. Test it out carefully, and use it if it is practicable.

In planting an orchard do not make the mistake of planting all one variety.

Not too late to plan that garden yet. Be sure and don't disappoint the women folks again this year.

Sow oats and peas in succession, so as to provide food for you until the fodder corn is ready for cutting.

For the growing shoot try a mixture of two-thirds shorts and one-third corn.

The home-made lime-sulphur wash is still the cheapest method of fighting various orchard pests.

Sulphate of iron makes a good disinfectant and tonic in the drinking water of poultry.

Try a solution of chlorate of potash in vinegar for the chickens that are troubled with cankers in the mouth and throat.

Poles hang while more trouble than the other kind are better because they grow larger heads and are more profitable bearers.

It is safest to keep the mother hen shut up on cold wet days, as she is apt to expose her chicks to the weather to their hurt.

Make up your mind this year that you will work out some kind of system of selection of the seed corn for use next year. In this way you will be able to improve your crop.

Wipe off the rows under before milking, with a clean, damp cloth. Much filth and dirt will thus be kept from going into the pail and contaminating the milk.

Cleanliness is essential in the hog quarters, especially during the summer months. Filth breeds disease and disease when it once begins its work among the hogs is an expensive visitor.

Spraying in the early part of the season seems like lots of waste of time and money, but when it comes to harvest and you note the larger proportion of marketable fruit you are then ready to admit that spraying pays.

If the vernal get the start of you it will be a desperate fight to keep them in check this summer, and will rob you of much profit, for hens cannot lay and feed a myriad of ill-fed and lice.

The pigs will early learn to eat grain, and a separate trough should be provided for them that the mother cannot reach. Feed them milk, shorts and a little shelled corn. Keep their troughs perfectly sweet and clean and feed only what they will eat in a short time.

Take the lack of proper ration or undue exposure stop the growth of the young pigs and you can never have quite as large or profitable a hog as you would have had had there been no setback. For this reason watch them and keep them growing.

With the better judgment which is coming to prevail among farmers as to the quality of the breeding stock there is coming also a realization that however good the animal may be he must be kept in vigorous condition if he is going to breed a strong posterity. For this reason the sentiment is growing to give the stallion and the bull sufficient exercise to keep them healthy.

The hard milker is not necessarily the poor milker. However she is not to be milked if the bird feed is left to do the task, and that means she will get the name of being a poor milker. Stockmen who know how to handle cows that are hard milkers sometimes secure valuable animals at small cost and by right handling can perhaps in part correct the difficulty.

Here is one farmer's methods who grows pumpkins on a large scale. First of all he says he plows the field and covers with stable manure, for pumpkins require a warm, rich soil in which to grow. After the ground is well worked up he plants eight seeds in a hill, the hills being eight feet apart each way. The seeds are sown once to the soil and to hoe, he says he never would plant pumpkins with corn, because they are right in the way.

Ground where the potatoes are to be planted should be first disked, then harrowed, then plowed. Another disk would then not be wasted effort, but another harrowing the soil must have. The potatoes should be planted about 20 inches apart in a row, rows three feet apart. It is cultivated by harrowing, sometimes twice, then cultivated with a horse hoe, which has cultivator teeth plows and a set of special flat weeds, which are death to weeds. Cultivation continues until the vines begin to die, especially if it is a dry season. In the opinion of a successful grower of tubers you cannot raise a crop of weeds and potatoes on the same ground the same season. Regarding sprays for the scab and blight this grower says: Have used corrosive sublimate and formalin for scab, but do not have much faith in either. Have also used bordeaux for blight and am somewhat skeptical in regard to its use. Think rotation the best remedy for both scab and blight. Also believe a clover and turned under in August and planted to potatoes the following spring the best remedy for both scab and blight.

Don't get so busy during the planting season as to be unable to scatter good seeds as well as seeds.

Fruit, poultry and bees make a good combination. Land which will grow fruit makes the ideal place for the keeping of bees and chickens, for the orchard makes good feeding and exercise ground for both the busy workers that sip the honey and eat the worms and bugs. The bees fertilize the blossoms and the chickens fertilize the soil with their droppings.

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

BRACING A CEMENT END POST

How to Construct a Pillar That Will Not Give Way in Stretching a Fence.

In order to brace an end post securely, first plant the post 3 1/2 feet deep, says a writer in Indiana Farmer.

Be sure that the dirt is well tamped around the post, tucking the first foot well is the most essential thing in making a post stand firm. Then the post back about three inches. This leaning causes the post to pull to the ground instead of lifting out of the ground, as it will do if it leans the other way. Then cut a notch about half way between the ground and top of the post for end of brace to rest in. Then plant a smaller post about six feet in front of end post for foot of brace to rest against, placing top side of lower end of brace six inches below the surface of the ground with a flat rock under it to keep the brace from settling in the ground. Now pass three strands of well-galvanized No. 9 wire around the two posts, tacking six strands of wire to twist together. Fasten the ends of the wire together, so they will not slip. Take a rod about 18 inches long, place between the six strands of wire and twist them together. Do not neglect to twist them tight, for this is the secret in making the posts stay in position. If my instructions are followed the fence stretcher is not made that will move the end post one inch at the top.

Brace for Cement End Post.

POTATO CULTURE PROFITABLE

Certain Sections of Country Where Irish Potato Is Best Growing Crop on the Farm.

There are certain sections of the United States which are, owing to climatic conditions, combined with the nature of the soil, better adapted to the growing of the Irish potato than probably any other farm product, and as this crop can be marketed at remunerative prices on an average of four years out of five, the farmers of what is known as the "potato districts" rely almost entirely upon this product for their money crop; therefore, it becomes necessary for them to secure as great a quantity of tubers as possible from each acre of land planted, from a minimum amount of labor and expense, in order to get the greatest percentage of profit obtainable.

The soil best adapted to growing the potato is a sandy loam well supplied with vegetable matter. This kind of a soil is not available in all cases and we have to be content with that of a heavier nature. In that case it is advisable to turn under a sod of some character, preferably clover, which will serve to keep the land in a mellow condition and retain the moisture longer than if the soil should be coarse more compact.

More attention every year is being given to the selection of seed, and the most successful potato growers have long ago discarded the using of culls for seed potatoes. Experiments have shown that an ordinary sized potato set in quarters will from produce 25 to 30 per cent. more salable potatoes per acre than when set with only one eye to the piece.

If proper precautions are taken and treatments begun in time there are none of the enemies of the potato, which, if properly handled, cannot be reduced to a nonentity as far as damage to the crops is concerned.

For Slugs or Snails.

Salt is a sure remedy for the slugs or snails, says the Ohio Farmer. Discretion, however, is always necessary in its use, as it is liable to kill or injure plants to which it is applied at all. We and ordinary air slacked lime just as sure to kill slugs as salt, and probably much safer. Slugs are night feeders, leaving their hindlings and trailing on the leaves first reached (usually the lower ones) shortly after sundown. To destroy the pest dust the lower parts of the foliage of affected crops lightly with the air-slacked lime. The effect is immediate. Next morning you will find the remains of the dissolved slugs.

Saving Grain.

Carefully conducted experiments at several different experiment stations have shown that an acre of grain when sown by pigs, will save from 1,500 to 2,500 pounds of grain, and some cases have been reported in which the amount saved was even greater than that last mentioned. With grain at a cent a pound, as it will average now, an acre of rape this spring and the coming summer will be worth about $20 when fed to pigs. The cost of producing the acre of rape and harvesting it is less than that of almost every other crop grown on the farm.

Value of the Berry Patch.

Where an old berry patch has been cleaned out is due for a crop of melons or potatoes. Then it should be sown to cow peas or clover. Either of these crops are fine for storing up fertility in the soil. An orchard may be started on reasonably thin soil if the proper care is given to store up plenty of fertility for the use of the trees in producing their crops of fruit.

Few Errors in Mail Service.

In a railway mail service in 1888, before it was brought into the classified service under the law, there was one error in distribution of mail matter for every 3,700 pieces correctly handled; in 1897, some years after the new system became operative, there were 12,000 pieces accurately sorted for every one that went astray.

Building a Dyke.

$100,000 in building a concrete dyke along the sides of the roadway, says Popular Mechanics. The big dyke will be over a mile long when completed and represents one of the largest pieces of concrete work ever done in that vicinity. The concrete slopes at an angle of 45 degrees and varies in height from 15 to 35 feet.

The illustration gives a scene at the laying of the concrete on the sloping sides of the roadway. The concrete is laid in strips of six feet wide so that men can work the surface conveniently. When one set of strips is sufficiently hard to bear the weight of the men the intervening strips are filled in.

FARMING MODERNIZED.

Agriculture Has Not Escaped Revolution of Machinery in All Kinds of Industries.

Agriculture has not escaped the mighty revolution of machinery that has swept all kinds of production within the last half or even quarter century. Many of our readers can remember the bull plow with the wooden mold-board; when the spike tooth harrow was considered perfection, when seeding and planting of all kinds were mostly done by hand; when the cradle gathered and the flail threshed wheat and other small grain.

But the wooden mold-board plow, which was only a few degrees removed from the forked stick of the savage, has given place to the chilled steel share that cuts and turns a clean furrow in different widths and depths, and under this have been placed wheels so that now the farmer rides as he breaks his land instead of trudging weary miles in the yielding soil.

Again, in many places, though not generally, plowing is done by steam and gasoline engines, and these will increase as agriculture is put more and more upon a business basis.

The harrow has followed the development of the plow, the spring tooth and riding disc harrows being quite generally in use and increasing yearly.

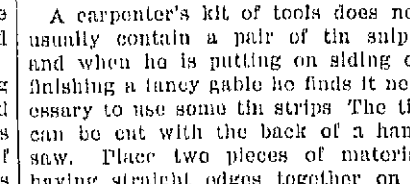

The riding cultivator is known in almost every farm community.

Wheat drills and corn planters put in by far the greater portion of these crops, and machines for planting potatoes and other root crops are by no means uncommon.

CUTTING TIN WITH HAND SAW

Instructions for Cutting Metal When a Pair of Snips Are Not Handy.

A carpenter's kit of tools does not usually contain a pair of tin snips, and when he is putting on siding or finishing a fancy gable he finds it necessary to use some tin snips. The tin can be cut with the back of a hand saw. Place two pieces of material having straight edges together on a pair of horses. Nail another piece across the bottom of the parallel pieces and put the saw in between them. Place the tin flat on top of the pieces back of the saw and pry down on the saw handle, as shown in the sketch, and the back of the saw blade will cut as good as tin snips.

Strange Growth of Olive Trees.

Attention is seldom called to a remarkable and curious characteristic of the olive tree. After many years of growth the different large branches of the tree separate gradually from the trunk until they are quite divided since then they grow down into the root. These then slowly move apart, and in some instances six or seven distinct trees stand in the area which before surrounded the main tree, and they will sometimes be as much as 20 feet apart.

San Jose Scale.

State Economic Zoologist Surface, of Harrisburg, has received reports showing that the San Jose is working its destruction in every part of Pennsylvania and in some districts the infection is so great that scarcely a single tree has escaped. Yet he has been tried the pest has been checked. It would seem that ordinary self-preservation ought to be sufficient incentive to urge the orchardists to spray their trees.

Mystifying.

Some men find it very hard to understand why any beautiful young widow should insist on living comfortably on the life insurance left by her husband.

ONCE A MERCHANT

New Washington Governor Started in Country Store.

Marion E. Hay, Successor to Late Samuel G. Cosgrove, Twice Weathered Hard Panics—Born on a Farm.

Spokane, Wash.—Marion E. Hay of Spokane, who became governor of the state of Washington on March 29 when Gov. Samuel G. Cosgrove died at Paso Robles, Cal., is a native of Wisconsin, born on a farm near Easton in 1863 of parents whose ancestors had been pioneers following the course of empire from Massachusetts to New York, then to Wisconsin, Iowa and finally to Washington. He was elected lieutenant governor in November, 1908, and with the exception of two days when Mr. Cosgrove was inaugurated, he has been acting chief executive since January 8.

Mr. Hay lived for a time at Easton, Wis., remaining until 1878, when the family moved to northwestern Iowa, where he worked on a farm while completing his education, and he struck out for himself in 1887. His first position was in a store at Jackson, Minn., where he met Lizzie Muir, who became his wife in 1888. They came to Spokane that year, going afterward to Davenport, Wash., where Hay opened a large country store, in which his brother, F. T. Hay, became interested in 1900.

Like other country merchants in the wheat-growing centers of eastern Washington, Mr. Hay extended credit to practically all his customers, and was, as a consequence, compelled to share the financial trials in the community during the trying days of 1894, when wheat went down to 15 cents a bushel and the financial and commercial ones were strewn with the wrecks, he had as high as $40,000 uncollected, and, for the time at least, uncollectible accounts on his books and the struggle to meet the demands of his own creditors became one of serious proportions, but he met them, weathering the storm which swept away so many of his competitors in business and when good prices came again a large proportion of the accounts were paid.

Another period of financial hardship came in the winter of 1901 and 1902. The preceding season had been one of comparatively low prices for the wheat growers and many of them were unable to meet their current obligations. The Big Bend Land Company's investments had absorbed some of the firm's current capital in land investments, which did not begin to enjoy an active market until a year or two later and in the spring of 1902 the creditors of Hay & Hay met in Spokane to consider whether to press the firm. Mr. Hay went before the meeting with a detailed statement of the financial affairs of the company and to the stockholders and asked an extension of credit for nine and 12 months.

On the showing as presented by the extension was granted. The season proved to be a prosperous one, crops were large and prices excellent and an influx of population set in from the east, creating an active market for farm lands, so that the firm was able to more than meet all of the promises.

Mr. Hay entered politics in 1892, becoming chairman of the central committee of Lincoln county, which he resigned in 1904. He was among the first to take an active part in the agitation which swept the country over the grain-growing region for the legislative regulation of railroad rates and service, and in 1908 and 1904 he was the recognized leader in the county of the railroad commission faction of his party. He was defeated for the state senate in 1908, but at the primary election in 1908 he was nominated for the office of lieutenant governor on the second choice ballot. His family consists of five children, three of whom are boys and two girls.

Youthful Jockeys.

Frank Wootton, the 16-year-old jockey, who has begun the flat racing season so brilliantly at Lincoln, has had many famous predecessors almost as precocious as himself, although he has now been riding five years.

Fred Archer began his wonderful career at 12 by winning two races on consecutive days, and in his third year had 35 winning mounts; George "ordum" won his first laurels at Brighton when he was only 13; Harry Cuntance scored his first win on Ada at the age of 16, and Tom Cannon had his first mount at 14.—The Bits.

Repartee.

She was playing golf—her first game of the season—and she really looked pretty nifty. But suddenly she gave a shriek of alarm. A large ead-eyed crow, grazing on the links, had confronted her.

"Go away, you horrid thing!" she squealed, waving her driver wildly. "You don't belong in our set!"

The crow looked the lady over carefully. "You're right," she howled, chewing her cud reflectively. "At least I never stuffed my calves with cotton."

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. Alexander D. Mintie, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria and have found it a reliable and pleasant remedy for children."

Dr. J. S. Alexander, of Omaha, Neb., says: "A medicine no valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is, deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."

Dr. J. A. McClellan, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I have frequently prescribed your Castoria for children and always got good results. In fact I use Castoria for my own children."

Dr. J. W. Allen, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I heartily endorse your Castoria. I have frequently prescribed it in my medical practice, and have always found it to do all that is claimed for it."

Dr. C. H. Olden, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "My experience as a practitioner with your Castoria has been highly satisfactory, and I consider it an excellent remedy for the young."

Dr. H. D. Benner, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria as a purgative in the cases of children for years past with the most happy effect, and fully endorse it as a safe remedy."

Dr. J. A. Dourman, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

Dr. J. J. Mackay, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I consider your Castoria an excellent preparation for children, being composed of reliable medicines and pleasant to the taste. A good remedy for all disturbances of the digestive organs."

William Jennings Bryan buys a farm in the Gulf Coast Country

He has purchased 160 acres of irrigated land near Mission, Hidalgo Co., Texas. Forty have been cleared and planted to orange, lemon, grape fruit, fig, olive, pecan, almond trees, etc., and if they "do as well as he expects" he will build a home and spend a portion of his winters there. Mr. Bryan has long contemplated improving a place in the South, and it is not surprising that his selection should be made in the heart of the Gulf Coast Country, whose climate is almost ideal and whose soil is so wonderfully productive.

William Volz, from ten acres in the same neighborhood, shipped 5,000 crates of Bermuda Onions from 10 acres at an average price—after all expenses paid—of $1.00 per crate; $500 an acre. Think of it!

On a small tract of land in the Gulf Coast Country you should be able to make a good living and lay away a snug sum each year.

Investigate this proposition while the land is within your reach. Next year it will cost more.

Flag Day Proclamation.

Gov. Davidson has issued this proclamation:
One hundred and thirty-two years ago on the 14th of June the congress of the United States established by law the design of our flag. Of late years the significance of this event has become more generally recognized by our people, and the anniversary fittingly celebrated. A special effort will be made this year by patriotic citizens and organizations to have this memorable occurrence observed. In full sympathy with the impulses actuating these lovers of our country and all its standards for, I, J. O. Davidson, governor of the state of Wisconsin, designate Monday, June 14, 1909, as Flag day, and call upon all public officers, upon the mediums of information and education, and upon all who love the flag and our country to make this year's observance a notable one.
I request that the flag be displayed from public buildings and our homes, and let us present to the young and refresh for the old, the lofty ideals of our fathers."

One Marriage in Ten Broken.

Twenty years ago an investigation by the department of labor showed that 329,716 divorces had been granted in the United States between 1867 and 1890, and that divorces were increasing two and one-half times as fast as the population. The recent census of 1897-1900 brings to light 945,625 divorces and demonstrates that the movement constantly gains in velocity. At present, probably one marriage in ten is broken, and in some states the proportion may be as high as one in four. Forty years ago the broad contrast was between north and south; but the divorce rates of the north and south have been converging, whereas those of the east and west have diverged. The central states have two and one-half times the rate of the Atlantic states, while for the western states the portion is three and one-half.
Although the tide of divorce is rising the world over, nowhere is it so high, nowhere is it rising so fast, as in the United States. Our rate is twice that of Switzerland, three that of France and five times that of Germany.—The May Century.

New Postage Stamps.

A new issue of postage stamps will be put out June 1, the stamp being a special issue commemorative of the Alaska-Yukon exposition. In the center the larger part of a circle rests on the lower panel and encloses a ribbon bearing the words, "Alaska-Yukon-Pacific, 1909," and in the center of the circle appears a portrait of William H. Seward, who as secretary of the state conducted the negotiations for the purchase of Alaska from Russia. The name, "William H. Seward," appears under the portrait. On either side is an ellipse containing the Arabic numeral 2 with branches as a background. The new stamp will not be issued in book form.

The Wrong Man.

Merrill Herald—Chief J. T. Welch, of Grand Rapids, came up yesterday afternoon with a young fellow named Cartwright, who answered to the description of one of the men, who, Friday robbed the German American Bank. It was found, however, that Cartwright was not the right man and had nothing to do with robbery. He was arrested Saturday for vagrancy, and because the answered somewhat to the description of one of the robbers, he was brought up.
Chief Welch returned this morning to Grand Rapids with the man.

Subtle Advertising.

"A temperance society in the middle west" said a temperance worker, "once had a splendid lecture, a reformed drunkard. This lecturer, after a year or so, was discharged. An admirer asked why he had been released, and the society's president answered: "Don't you remember how he continually referred to the irresistible seductions of a certain brand of beer, at times even to the point of saying, 'Well, it turns out that the brewer paid him a quarter for every time he sang in the beer's name.'"

PORT EDWARDS.

The ball game on Sunday between Port Edwards and Mosinee resulted in a victory for the locals by a score of nine to one. It was a walkaway for the locals after the first couple of innings and there was nothing for the visitors to do but try to hold the score down as low as possible, as there was no show of their winning. The visitors had a good pitcher with them, and had he had proper support the game would have been a close one, as the locals made most of their runs on errors. Brennan pitched for Port and threw a good steady game, and was well supported from start to finish. There is no question but what the Port Edwards boys will put up some good ball as soon as they have played together a few times.

The Grand Rapids band was in town on Sunday and played at the ball game and later in the afternoon gave a concert at the hotel, and after the supper they put in an hour at the new St. Paul depot. The new depot and the grounds surrounding it were a source of wonder to the visitors from Grand Rapids, as it gives promise of being a very handsome place when the laws have become green.

It was expected that the new depot would be opened to the public for the evening train, but owing to some unavoidable delays in finishing up the work the opening was merely in formal and it is not definitely known as to when the depot will be opened to the public. Nevertheless everybody enjoyed the event, and it certainly shows the efforts of the Nekosia-Edwards company and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. Co. to make this one of the beauty spots on the Wisconsin river, are thoroughly appreciated.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Grand Rapids People Know How to Save It.
Many Grand Rapids people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer and to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Grand Rapids citizen's recommendation:
"Mr. Samuel Parker, living at 897 Evelyn St. N. W., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: 'Mr. Parker is a great deal better in every way since using Doan's Kidney Pills. For some time he suffered from a lame back and a soreness across his loins. The secretions from his kidneys were very irregular in action and he was forced to arise many times during the night to pass them. They were also highly colored, and at times contained a sediment. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, my husband procured a box and they went directly to the seat of his trouble. He has not complained of any of the symptoms since and his general health is much better.'"

Advice to Correspondents.

We would like all of our correspondents to write only on one side of the paper. This makes it a great deal simpler for the person who is setting the matter up, and is a rule that is observed in all printing offices.

Begin your items with the name of the town and end them with your own name. It does not matter how often you have signed your name, we want it at the end of your items each time.

Be very careful to write proper names plainly and get them spelled as near right as possible. Confine yourself to news and avoid jokes about the boys and girls in your community. If John Jones goes to see his best girl there is no need of making a joke about the matter. Treat others as you would like to be treated.

Never say John Jones and lady went somewhere. If it was Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, say so, and if it was not, write both names out. Follow the style of the paper wherever possible, and it will save work for the editor.

These instructions are not given in a spirit of criticism, but merely helpful hints for those who are desirous of doing the work as well as possible.

ECZEMA.

Can be Permanently Cured.

If you are suffering from itching burning eczema, psoriasis, ulcers, pimples, salt rheum, etc., you can go on treating yourself externally for the rest of your natural life, and at best you will get only temporary relief. This works out advantageously for the exploiters of patent remedies who claim that these diseases can be cured by lotions and ointments only. You may get ease for a while, and when the disease reappears feel you go back to your doctor and there by bring grief to the mill of his manufacturer. But are you cured? You know best; you have tried Dr. Taylor's treatment commences with the blood, attacks the disease at its source, as you would a polluted stream. If you would doubt about it, take the treatment, and if it fails to cure you will refund the purchase price. Send to our office, 1330 Arch Street, Philadelphia, for booklet. Sold by DAILY DRUG & JEWELRY CO. and by all first class druggists.

The American Voice.

I think myself that what, as much as anything else, laid the foundation of our health, lasting over three or four generations, of the American people. Up to the middle of the nineteenth century and even beyond foreigners were surprised when they came across a healthy looking woman. The isolation of frontier life, the general tension of the American climate, malaria, bad diet and worse sanitation combined to turn one-half the nation into semi-invalids and the thin, sharp, slovenly, staccato tones of the American women were as often as not the result of physical and nervous depression. I do not say that ill health was the sole cause, but it is undoubtedly the fact that as the health of Americans has improved so have their voices.—London Standard.

To Select Woodman Queen.

"Who is the most popular lady in Tomahawk?"

This is a question which will be uppermost in the minds of the ladies and their friends during the next three weeks and a half. For the contest for a Woodman queen for the picnic of July 3 is on. A voting contest for a queen has been arranged by the picnic committee to decide the momentous question. Tickets will be on sale Monday, May 31, at various business places. The tickets may be voted personally or by mail. Tickets for ten votes each will be sold for 30 cents. The ballot box will be at the Standard store, where also will be kept a bulletin board upon which the number of votes for each candidate will be posted every evening during the contest.

The voting will close Thursday evening, June 21, at 8 o'clock, at which time the result will be announced. The successful contestant will ride at the head of the parade in a beautifully decorated automobile. In the evening she will lead the grand march at the Woodman ball at the opera house. The money derived from the contest will be used for decorations and other necessary expenses connected with the picnic.

Arrangements are also being made to have each Woodman camp in the surrounding cities and towns elect a young lady as a maid of honor to the Woodman queen, and to ride with her in state in the parade.

Other preparations for the picnic are progressing. United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has been invited to deliver the address of the day. William Jennings Bryan, to whom an invitation was extended, replied in a personal letter that he was unable to come, as he already had the date filled.

One thousand dollars will be given away in prizes, $250 of which will be given in prizes to competing Woodmen drill teams. There will be free launch rides on the rivers for visitors. The program for the day will include horse races, baseball, boat races, swimming contests, golf, rolling, rifle, field contests, and hand contests. Dancing will be indulged in during the day and evening.

A class of 100 will be adopted by the Woodman Friday evening, July 2. The Merrill Pioneer team, champions of the state, will have charge of the floor work. —The Tomahawk Leader.

Marshfield Wrestler Injured in Gutch Match.

Marshfield News:—It was not generally known by friends of Fred Beell on his return from Denver, Colorado, that he was so badly crippled in his match with Champion Gutch that he had to cancel all engagements and will not be able to take on any more matches this summer. The accident happened in the beginning of the first round which lasted nearly thirty minutes. Fred sticking to the last even though the ligaments in his left shoulder were badly torn. In the second bout which lasted two minutes Beell was almost helpless with his left arm which accounts for the sudden termination of the match. Beell says Gutch has improved wonderfully since his trip through Europe and is by far the best in the wrestling world today. Although Fred is in receipt of many flattering offers for matches he is turning them down and does not think it probable he will be able to go on the mat again this summer.

The Whole Family

Many thrifty people have learned that it is a fine thing for every member of the family to have an account in the savings bank. The parents start the account for the babies and as they become older they soon get the savings bank habit, and save the pennies instead of spending them foolishly.

The wife saves from the egg and pin money, and the husband puts away part of every check. One dollar will start an account.

 Our law makers are not neglecting their duty any down at Madison, they are right on the job all the time. They recently passed the "sweat bill," which makes it a misdemeanor to swear in public with a penalty of $35 attached. One might think from this that it was a hard matter to find something to pass a law about, but that is not the case at all. However, it does show the mental caliber of the men who are fooling away their time down there. It does not make much difference to the general public, but many of these same men would be much better off at home attending to their regular business.

To Select Woodman Queen.

"Who is the most popular lady in Tomahawk?"
 This is a question which will be uppermost in the minds of the ladies and their friends during the next three weeks and a half. For the contest for a Woodman queen for the picnic of July 3 is on. A voting contest for a queen has been arranged by the picnic committee to decide the momentous question. Tickets will be sold on Monday, May 31, at various business places. The tickets may be voted personally or by mail. Tickets for ten votes each will be sold for 10 cents. The ballot box will be at the Standard store, where also will be kept a bulletin board upon which the number of votes for each candidate will be posted every evening during the contest.
 The voting will close Thursday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock, at which time the result will be announced. The successful contestant will ride at the head of the parade in a beautifully decorated automobile. In the evening she will lead the grand march at the Woodman ball at the opera house. The money derived from the contest will be used for decorations and other necessary expenses connected with the picnic.
 Arrangements are also being made to have each Woodman camp in the surrounding cities and towns elect a young lady as a maid of honor to the Woodman queen, and to ride with her in state in the parade.
 Other preparations for the picnic are progressing. United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa has been invited to deliver the address of the day. William Jennings Bryan, to whom an invitation was extended, replied in a personal letter that he was unable to come, as he already had the date filled.
 One thousand dollars will be given away in prizes, $250 of which will be given in prizes to competing Woodmen drill teams. There will be free lunch rides on the rivers for visitors. The program for the day will include horse races, baseball, boat races, swimming contests, log rolling, athletic contests and bant contests. Dancing will be indulged in during the day and evening.
 A class of 100 will be adopted by the Woodmen Friday evening, July 2. The Merrill Forester team, champions of the state, will have charge of the floor work.—The Tomahawk Leader.

Marshfield Wrestler Injured in Gutch Match.

Marshfield News:—It was not generally known by friends of Fred Beall on his return from Denver, Colorado, that he was so badly crippled in his match with Champion Gutch that he had to cancel all engagements and will not be able to take on any more matches this summer. The accident happened in the beginning of the first round which lasted nearly thirty minutes. Fred sticking to the last even though the ligaments in his left shoulder were badly torn. In the second bout which lasted two minutes Beall was almost helpless with his left arm which accounts for the sudden termination of the match. Beall says Gutch has improved wonderfully since his trip through Europe and is by far the best in the wrestling world today. Although Fred is in receipt of many flattering offers for matches he is turning them down and does not think it probable he will be able to go on the mat again this summer.

TAFT HONORS DEAD

PRESIDENT DELIVERS ORATION ON GETTYSBURG FIELD.

MONUMENT IS DEDICATED

Daughter of the Chief Executive Unveils the Shaft Erected in Memory of Regulars—Lincoln Statue at Hodgenville.

Gettysburg, Pa.—Seldom has the historic Gettysburg battlefield witnessed more impressive Memorial day exercises than those of Monday. The chief feature of the ceremonies was the dedication of the new monument erected by act of congress to commemorate the services of the regular army of the United States in the Gettysburg campaign of June and July, 1863, and President Taft was the central figure in the day's doings.

The president arrived early in the morning from Pittsburgh, and was met by a committee of prominent citizens and an escort of United States regulars. After luncheon a great concourse of people gathered on the battlefield, and the exercises began. Secretary of War Dickman delivered an address and formally transferred the monument to the Gettysburg National Park commission, the chairman of which, Lieut. Col. John L. Nicholson, made the speech of acceptance.

Unveiled by Miss Taft.

The shaft was then unveiled by Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president. Laurel wreaths were placed at the base of the monument by the oldest regimental and battery commanders of the Gettysburg campaign, and

The monument is a beautiful shaft 85 feet high surrounded at the base by a broad granite terrace. It stands on a level of ground about 100 feet from the high-water mark of the battle of Gettysburg. The monument represents all of the 32 cavalry, artillery, infantry and engineer organizations of the regular army that participated in the campaign. In addition there has been erected a small monument seven feet high for each of the commands at the location it occupied during the battle.

MANY CITIES FEEL QUAKE

TOWNS IN MIDDLE WESTERN STATES TREMBLE

No Loss of Life Reported, but Several Slightly Injured—Some Property Damage.

Chicago.—Reports continued to come in Thursday of the earthquake which shook the middle west Wednesday. In this city the tremor lasted from two seconds to three minutes and in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri it was just as severe.

So far no loss of life has been reported, although there has been slight property damage and a great deal of fright. The most severe shocks were felt in Chicago and Indiana. In following is a list of towns where the earthquake was felt: Janesville, Wis.; Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Sterling, Ill.; Rockford, Ill.; Moline, Ill.; Joliet, Ill.; Streator, Ill.; Dixon, Ill.; Dubuque, Ia.; Burlington, Ia.; Galena, Ill.; Bloomington, Ill.; Freeport, Ill.; El Paso, Ill.; Fairbury, Ill.; Springfield, Ill.; Mount Carroll, Ill.; Springfield, Mich.; Peoria, Ill.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Madison, Wis.; Kaukauna, Mich.; Kalamazoo, Mich.; Aurora, Ill.; Kenosha, Ill.; Hanford, Mo.; Beloit, Wis.; Michigan City, Ind., and Grand Rapids, Mich.

The last previous earthquake shock recorded in the Chicago weather bureau was on October 31, 1895.

One of the reports at the weather bureau came from Dubuque, Ia., where it was said that the bank and insurance building, a seven-story structure, was nearly thrown to the ground by the violence of the shock. Clerks, stenographers and hundreds who were employed in the various offices ran in panic from the building. Two seismic disturbances were reported there.

In Chicago chimneys were thrown down on the West and North sides, and several women were thrown from their feet as a result of the shock. Large flat buildings were shaken and families ran out, fearing the walls would collapse. Many were reminded of the disasters recently in Messina and San Francisco, and were in fear for hours after the shock had passed.

Two hundred Italians working on the steel elevation in Evanston were terror-stricken by the shock and fell on their knees in prayer. It was an hour before their feet were quieted and they could be persuaded to return to their work.

At the weather bureau Prof. Cox said there were no instruments for recording quakes shocks, but that he had noticed the swaying of chandeliers and lamp cords.

Strike Grows Serious.

Malls Still Held Up and Food Is Getting Scarce Along the Georgia Railroad.

Atlanta, Ga.—The tension in Georgia railway men's strike is increasing with every hour's delay in settling the race question involved. United States mails held up since the beginning of the work, a dozen counties being disconnected by business and the two issues brought continually into unwholesome prominence, were the factors which spurred the negotiations through hours of discussion.

Various towns in the strike district took inventory of the visible supply of food. Madison reported at least 15 days of plenty in prospect. Washington reported a shortage in yeast and prices rising. Atlanta, where the president of the Atlanta and Sea has been supplied to maintain the perishable portion of their contents.

LORD ROBERTS SHOCKS JOHN BULL.

NEITHER PRESBYTERIAN PAS-TORS NOR LAYMEN SHOULD USE THE WEED.

IN ARGUMENT OVER JUDGES

Assembly Finally Decides That Jurists of Its Faith May Issue Saloon Licenses—Taft and Kaiser Praised.

Denver, Colo.—Chapman and Laymen should not use tobacco, but it is not contrary to the principles of the church for Presbyterian judges to grant saloon licenses. This was decided by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church Thursday.

The assembly thus expressed itself in approving the report of the committee on the subject of the use of tobacco. The report recommended that the church should not issue saloon licenses, and urged the members of the church to petition congress to stop interstate shipments of liquor, to discontinue the issuance of international revenue receipts in prohibition territory, and to prohibit the use of the mails for the distribution of liquor or advertisements of liquor.

Rev. Ellsworth Rich of Watsonville, Cal., introduced the resolution that ministers should not use tobacco. A layman arose and declared Mr. Rich should include laymen. This was done and the resolution was adopted and carried.

A commissioner then urged the adoption of a resolution that Presbyterian judges should refuse to grant licenses for saloons except on the basis of their duty under the law. Several speakers at once opposed this with the argument that a judge should not be criticized for his actions under the law, but the first speaker demanded that judges when confronted with such a situation resign the bench rather than grant the license. Commissioner from Pennsylvania said that it was the legal duty of the judges to issue such licenses.

"I don't grant that our judges do not resign upon such an occasion," said one commissioner, "for it will only give the law for worse ones."

The resolution was defeated. The matter of "modern theology and causes of study to meet with modern conditions," came up in the report of the committee on the education of the church. The recommendation was that while there was a demand for advanced teaching the doctrine of the church are sufficient to meet modern conditions. Instructors were criticized because of their alleged failure to apply the Presbyterian doctrine to the best advantage.

The report of the committee on church extension was adopted except for a resolution recommending a national insurance organization for the protection of church property.

These meats cost only about half as much as beef, but there are hundreds, perhaps thousands of families in the city who prefer one of the other to any other kind of meat. An experienced bartender testified in court that the man who plays the slot machine "loses fast enough that craft may not be utilized as scout cruisers, thus obviating the necessity of constructing new and costly ships. It is the business of such craft to locate an enemy and then to make a rapid run to the site of the action. The newly-built cruisers for this special service have all the requisites, but there are several speedy ones among the older ships, and Uncle Sam might save money by utilizing them in the way proposed.

TAFT HONORS DEAD

PRESIDENT DELIVERS ORATION ON GETTYSBURG FIELD.

MONUMENT IS DEDICATED

Daughter of the Chief Executive Unveils the Shaft Erected in Memory of Regulars—Lincoln Statue at Hodgenville.

Gettysburg, Pa.—Seldom has the history of Gettysburg battlefield witnessed more impressive Memorial Day exercises than those of Monday. The chief feature of the ceremonies was the dedication of the fine monument erected by act of congress to commemorate the services of the regular army of the United States in the Gettysburg campaign of June and July, 1863, and President Taft was the central figure in the day's doings.

The president arrived early in the morning from Pittsburgh, and was met by a committee of prominent citizens, and an escort of United States regulars. After luncheon a great concourse of people gathered on the battlefield, and the exercises began. Secretary of War Dickinson delivered an address and formally transferred the monument to the Gettysburg National Park commission, the chairman of which, Lieut. Col. John P. McPherson, made the speech of acceptance.

Unveiled by Miss Taft.

The shaft was then unveiled by Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president. Laurel wreaths were placed at the base of the monument by the oldest regimental and battery commanders of the Gettysburg campaign, and the ceremonies ended with a review of the troops on the field by President Taft.

TOWNS IN MIDDLE WESTERN STATES TREMBLE

No Loss of Life Reported, but Several Slightly Injured—Some Property Damage.

Chicago.—Reports continued to come in Thursday of the earthquake which shook the middle west Wednesday. In this city the tremor lasted from two seconds to three minutes and in cities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri it was just as severe.

So far no loss of life has been reported, although there has been slight property damage and a great deal of fright. The most severe shocks were felt in Chicago and Dubuque, Ia.

Following is a list of towns where the earthquake was felt: Janesville, Wis.; Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Sterling, Ill.; Rockford, Ill.; Moline, Ill.; Joliet, Ill.; Streator, Ill.; Dixon, Ill.; Dubuque, Ia.; Burlington, Ia.; Freeport, Ill.; Elkhart, Ill.; Springfield, Ill.; Mount Carroll, Ill.; Springfield, Ill.; Mount Pleasant, Ill.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Madison, Wis.; Kalamazoo, Mich.; Benton Harbor, Mich.; Aurora, Ill.; Kenosha, Ill.; Hanibal, Mo.; Beloit, Wis.; Michigan City, Ind., and Grand Rapids, Mich.

The last previous earthquake shock recorded in the Chicago weather bureau was on October 31, 1895.

One of the reports at the weather bureau came from Dubuque, Ia., where it was said that the Bank and Insurance building, a seven-story structure, was nearly thrown to the ground by the violence of the shock. Clerks, the violence of the shock. Clerks, the violence of the shock. Clerks, the violence of the shock.

In Chicago chimneys were thrown down on the West and North sides, and several women were thrown from the roofs as a result of the shock. Large flat buildings were shaken and families ran out, fearing the walls would collapse. Many were reminded of the disasters recently in Messina and San Francisco, and were in fear.

Two hundred Italians working on the track elevation in Evanston were terrified by the shock and fell on their knees in prayer. It was an hour before their fears were quieted and they could be persuaded to return to their work.

At the weather bureau Prof. Cox said there were no instruments for recording quake shocks, but that he had noticed the swaying of chandeliers and lamp cords.

Four of the children died later. They are: Selma Clay, aged five years; Dorothy Clay, aged seven years; Nell McGeary, five years; Louise Marshall, eight years; May Miller, aged five years, may recover.

Little Dorothy Clay was the unwitting cause of the catastrophe. The little girl had formed in a circle and had drilled back and forth while their white muslin dresses, the entire gathering was crushed.

Then the lights were extinguished and an electric candle in the hand of each child flashed out brilliantly. The aunts, mothers, fathers and playmates in the crowd cheered and applauded so enthusiastically that Dorothy, frightened and dropped her candle.

Various owners in the strike district took inventory of the visible supply of food. Madison reported at least 15 days of plenty in prospect. Washington reported a shortage in yeast and prices rising. There are 11 cars of provisions at Lancaster, Pa., has been supplied to maintain the perishable portion of their contents.

TOBACCO IS BARRED

NEITHER PRESBYTERIAN PASTORS NOR LAYMEN SHOULD USE THE WEED.

IN ARGUMENT OVER JUDGES

Assembly Finally Decides That Jurists of Its Faith May Issue Saloon Licenses—Taft and Kaiser Praised.

Denver, Col.—Clergymen and laymen should not use tobacco, but it is not contrary to the principles of the church for Presbyterian judges to grant saloon licenses. This was decided by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church Thursday.

The assembly, which expressed itself in approving the report of the temperance committee after a long discussion. The report commended President Taft, Emperor William and former President Eliot of Harvard for their teetotalism; and urged the ministers of the church to petition congress to stop interstate shipments of liquors, to discontinue the issuance of international revenue receipts in prohibition territory, and to prohibit the use of the mails for the distribution of liquor or advertisements of liquor.

Rev. Ellsworth Rich of Watsonville, Cal., introduced the resolution, that ministers should not use tobacco. A layman arose and declared Mr. Rich should include laymen. This was done and the resolution was adopted amid cheering.

A commissioner then urged the adoption of a resolution that Presbyterian judges should refuse to grant licenses for saloons even though it licenses their duty under the law. Several speakers at once opposed this with the argument that a judge should not be criticized for his actions under the law, but the first speaker insisted that judges who assign the bench such a situation should resign.

The matter of "modern theology and courses of study to meet with modern conditions," came up in the report of the committee on theological seminaries. There was a demand for that which there was a demand for advanced teaching of the doctrines of the church are sufficient to meet modern conditions. Instructors were criticized because of their alleged failure to apply the Presbyterian doctrines to the best advantage.

The report of the committee on church erection was adopted except for a resolution recommending a mutual insurance organization for the protection of church property.

Royal Arcanum Picks Montreal.

St. Louis.—The supreme council of The Cranberry Tradition.

That an industry of such importance as the cranberry has so long existed without attracting general notice can only be accounted for by the independent attitude of the growers, who have asked little in the way of legislative aid or help.

More than claim the paternity of cranberry culture, but the birthplace of it, for the probability is that the early start of the industry was at Dennis, on the north shore of the Cape. Here cranberries grew wild on the low marshes near the beach and were picked and preserved by the good housewives of the time as a delicacy highly regarded along with the peach, plum and the wild grape.

When the cranberry industry was taken up by farmers who had hog lands, these were valuable before the cultivation of cranberries. The use of cranberries to afford an even from, and the famed cranberries of Cape Cod began to retire, and in looking about for a place to invest their money found in cranberry production a congenial and lucrative occupation.

RESOLUTION NO. 3.
Whereas, there has heretofore been much confusion and uncertainty upon sheriff's bills and the manner of making out and presenting the same to the board, and in the charges made for certain services, to-wit: Charges for executing commitments to the insane hospital, industrial school, state public school at Sparta, state reformatory, and state prison, arising very largely as it is believed because of the ignorance of the law thereon due to the scattered provisions of the statute governing the same and the difficulty of finding the same and because of the fact that the statutes in certain of said cases fix specifically the amounts that may be charged and in certain others leaves it with the discretion of the board; therefore, be it

Resolved: That in all future bills of sheriffs of this county, the board will not receive or pass upon the same unless itemized as required by law, and particularly as required by Sec. 592 of the statutes, as the same may be amended, relating to execution of commitments to the insane hospital, Sec. 570, as the same may be amended, relating to execution of commitments to the industrial school; Sec. 573a and 573c, as the same may be amended, relating to the execution of commitments to state public school at Sparta; Sec. 573d, as the same may be amended, relating to the execution of commitments to the state prison; Sec. 577, as found in the laws of 1907, and as the same may be amended, relating to certification of necessity of assistants by magistrates.

2. Should it be held under the amendment of 1907, to Sec. 491d as found in the laws of 1907, page 659 that execution of commitments of the state reformatory are now a charge on the county, the pay of the sheriff therefor shall be the same as that allowed for the execution of commitments to the industrial school for boys.

3. That the pay allowed for the execution of commitments to the state prison shall be twelve and one-half ($12.50) dollars per day if there be but one person committed and conveyed to the state prison at one time, and in case of the conveyance of more than one person to the state prison at one time the pay shall be fifteen ($15.00) dollars per day and upon the certification of necessity therefor $30.00 per day for each necessary assistant, and the sheriff shall be required to execute as many such commitments at the same time as can be reasonably done to entitle him to the pay here provided.

4. That no criticism of the present sheriff is intended by this resolution, for in making out his bills and his charges therein he has simply followed a long established practice in this county.

5. That the county clerk forthwith deliver to the sheriff to be kept in his office for use, a copy of this resolution.
Mr. Brown moved that a committee of three be appointed by the board to see that the sheriff when executing commitments to the state prison is properly compensated.
The chair appointed L. Ward, Amundson and A. A. Chapman as said special committee.
On motion, resolution No. 3 was laid over until the next meeting and the board can take action on same.

RESOLUTION NO. 4.
Whereas, there is need of a representative in the office of the County Judge of Wood County; therefore, be it resolved by the county board of supervisors of Wood County that the county judge be and he is hereby authorized to purchase such typewriter as he may deem best for the use of his office, and that the county clerk be and he is hereby authorized to pay the bill for the same on the 1st day of June next.

A postal card was received at this office on Tuesday from our friend Alvin Boelke at Fond du Lac stating that he had failed to receive his last weeks Tribune and that he could not get along without it. Mr. Boelke sold his farm in Sigel some time ago and moved to Fond du Lac with his parents. Mr. Boelke also stated on his card that he had been around considerable since he left here, but as yet had failed to find a place that looked anywhere near as good to him as Grand Rapids.

The railway rate commission has decided that the Wisconsin Electric line cannot charge more than five cents between any two points on its line. This decision covers a period of only six months, after which if the company can show that the reduced fare prevents them from making a legitimate profit, the fare can be raised.
Among the names of the graduates of the preparatory school of the University of Idaho we notice that of Miss Kathryn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, formerly of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Miss Kittie have many friends here who will be pleased to know that they are getting along nicely in their home in the west.

The Art of Being Happy.
"Cheerfulness," says Ruskin, "is as natural to the heart of man in strong health as glow to his cheek, and wherever there is abundant gloom there must be either bad air, unwholesome food, improperly severe labor or erring habits of life." If children were taught that one of the great life duties is to unfold the fun loving side of their nature, the humorous side, there would not be so many suicides, so many unhappy, discordant, miserable people, so many failures in the world. Why shouldn't we develop the humor factor, the fun loving faculty, just as much as the bread earning or any other faculty? Why should we think it is so very necessary to spend years in going to school and college to develop other mental faculties and yet take practically no pains whatever to develop the humorous, the fun loving side of our nature?—Success Magazine.

SHOWING OUR FORCE AT WORK
They are all making clothes for the people of Grand Rapids and vicinity, and if they have not made any for you it is evident that you are behind the times. COME AND SEE WHAT WE HAVE TO OFFER FOR SUMMER AND FALL WEAR. We feel that we can suit you as to style and fabric, and we know we can suit you when it comes to a fit.
Our clothes have a style about them that you cannot secure in a suit of hand-me-downs, besides the workmanship is such that they have a great deal more wear in them. Let us look you over.
